MEDIA HUSHED AS RAIL FIRM FEARED 'NEGATIVE PRESS'

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

MEDIA presence at one of Axminster's main events last year was kept to a minimum because a company feared negative publicity.

A special train to Axminster was laid on by Network Rail and South West Trains when the new rail loop was officially opened on December 11th.

The dignitaries and high-ranking officials onboard were greeted by enthusiastic Axminster residents of all ages, but very few news organisations were present as the landmark facility was opened.

The media coverage was so scarce that Axminster Town Council decided to investigate — and Network Rail has since confirmed that an element of media restriction was, indeed, exercised.

Councillors first discussed the issue at the council's December meeting and expressed disappointment that the only televised report emphasised on the loss of trains elsewhere.

A letter was subsequently despatched to Network Rail and South West Trains to enquire about media arrangements on the day.

The reply from Network Rail was read out when the council met in January, and stated: "As you're aware we overran on the project, this was predominantly due to issues with the new signalling.

"With this in mind we were conscious that if we had a large media presence on the day they may have focused on the negative delays as opposed to the good news story.

"That said, a journalist from Pulman's View was present.

"We also issued a joint press release with South West Trains on Sunday (December 13th) announcing the completion of the track and the new service, which generated quite a lot of coverage in the local media, including pieces in the Midweek Herald, Radio Exeter and Midwest Radio.

"BBC Spotlight has already done a piece on the project but we'll see if they're keen to run a follow-up story."

■ Pulman's View attended on its own accord and 'gategashed' the event as it had received no invitation from Network Rail or South West Trains.

Pulman's View spoke to Network Rail Public Affairs Manager Chris Wiggan at the event, who was very helpful and offered interview opportunities, although Pulman's View had not been invited.

Worst CCTV footage seen

THE footage produced by some CCTV cameras in Axminster's Guildhall are the worst a mayor has seen.

As a result, the town council will ask the company that installed the cameras to improve the quality.

The Guildhall has a number of CCTV cameras, some of them added as a condition for an extended licence.

The original cameras are said to be fine, but those installed with the licence extension have proved problematic.

The matter was raised when Axminster Town Council met for its January meeting.

It was reported that a handbag had gone missing during New Year celebrations in the venue.

CCTV images were used to try and establish what had happened, but the footage was not very helpful.

Mayor Ron Jones said: "What I saw on the playback is the worst I have seen."

The debate that followed indicated that the additional cameras had been installed without any test footage being viewed by the council.

It was resolved to contact the camera provider to discuss an improvement.

Oil is taken

Anyone with information that could help investigators is asked to call Axminster police through the constabulary switchboard on 08452 777 444.

The crime reference number is KA/10/19.

Stolen bike may turn up

POLICE in Chard say that a bicycle stolen in the town might have been sold in Axminster.

The bicycle was taken on December 29th last year and is described as a Mongoose with a blue frame, black handle bars, silver brake levers, orange brake cables, and silver wheels and rims. The spoke ends are also orange.

A Chard police spokesperson said: "If you have seen this bike, please contact Avon and Somerset Police on 0845 456 7000 or anonymously via Crimestoppers."

Homes developer may appeal against refusal

By ANDERS LARSSON
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

THE developer behind the proposed Cedar Gardens project in Axminster is likely to appeal the refusal issued last week.

Barkley Park Cedar Ltd applied for permission to build eight one-bedroom apartments, two two-bedroom dwellings, one three-bedroom dwelling plus alterations to parking and communal areas at Cedar Gardens, off Musbury Road.

Residents in the area, however, expressed concern and more than 10 of them attended the Axminster Town Council meeting in November to air their views.

Among other things, they were worried about the area becoming over-developed and an increased risk of flooding.

Town councillors agreed and recommended refusal.

East Devon District Council (EDDC) refused the application on January 12th, saying parts of the proposed design could lead to "unreasonably oppressive living conditions".

The decision notice stated: "The four ground floor flats and the smaller of the two-bed houses at the back edge of the footway with little or no rear outlook or amenity would be likely to lead to unreasonably oppressive living conditions for future occupiers."

With regards to the flooding issue, the notice stated: "On the information submitted, the local planning authority is not convinced that there would be no increased risk of flooding on the application site or elsewhere."

"The local planning authority is aware that the applicant is undertaking an exercise to attempt to satisfy the current objection with regard to flood protection."

Andrew Moy, the chairman of Purzebrook Area Residents' Association, commented: "Local residents welcome the agreement of EDDC that this proposal would be an overdevelopment."

"Following the most recent flooding in November, the developer appointed consultants to assess the risk of future flooding.

"These consultants, working with the Environment Agency and EDDC Land Drainage, have spent a considerable amount of time and effort producing a viable flood mitigation scheme for this area."

"Unfortunately, the scheme was not finalised in time for inclusion with this planning proposal."

"Purzebrook House residents would welcome this flood mitigation scheme as part of any future proposal for Cedar Gardens which satisfied other planning requirements."

The applicant's agent, Joseph Marchant of Context Logic Ltd, said: "We remain of the view that the scheme repairs the urban grain of the street and offers a great deal in improving the landscape setting in and around the development."

"On considering what action to take next, it is my expectation that the applicant will appeal the decision."

NO GRIT FOR SLIPPERY CAR PARKS IF THE ICE STRIKES

By ANDERS LARSSON
anderson@lindlenews.co.uk

EAST Devon District Council (EDDC) car parks will remain ungritted for the time being should winter strike again.

The recent coldsnap turned some EDDC car parks into skaterink lookalikes and there was widespread anger.

Ottery town, district and county councillor Roger Giles, for example, demanded to know why the council car parks were not gritted.

As reported in our Ottery edition last week, EDDC confirmed car parks are not gritted for fear of insurance claims.

A spokesperson said in last week's issue: "EDDC will give consideration to this issue next week but pending that it would be irresponsible to place the council through its insurers into a potential multiple claim situation when the risks of walking/driving on ice should be clear to everyone."

Axminster Town Council has since raised similar issues, some members saying that drivers rightly expect a basic level of maintenance if asked to pay for parking.

When asked for an update, EDDC said that a corporate director has been asked to draw up a gritting policy for all public open spaces at risk of slippery conditions.

Once drawn up, the policy will go through various committees for consideration by councillors.

In the meantime, no gritting of car parks will take place.

Career help at evening convention

HONITON Community College will be holding a careers convention on Thursday, February 4th, between 3pm and 7pm.

The event will take place at Honiton Sports Centre close to the main school campus.

A spokesman for the college said: "Everyone is welcome to come along and find out about careers, further education, training and volunteering. So far we have over 30 confirmed exhibitors including local and national companies, universities, colleges and training providers.

"Local sixth form colleges and several universities will be attending and will have plenty of information about further education including degrees, A levels, NVQs and the new diplomas.

"Several local training providers will be able to advise on apprenticeships and other training available to young people, and there will be the chance to try out different careers with lots of hands-on and interactive stands.

"We have also had an excellent response from local and national employers who will be able to offer information about careers in areas such as the armed forces, engineering, animal care, childcare, banking, care work and volunteering."

The event is open to the community as well as students and parents.

Employers and organisations who wish to have a stand at the convention should contact Sue Miller at the college on 01404 42283.

Area's education gets high results

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

THE school league table results have just been published by the government's Department for Children, Schools and Families, and it is good news for pupils and staff at schools and colleges across Pulman's Country.

Across Devon a total of 60 schools and colleges were assessed and ranked according to their GCSE results.

Just over 51 per cent of pupils were awarded at least five A* to C grades at GCSE or equivalent, including English and maths, last summer.

Axe Valley Community College, Axminster, is ranked as the 33rd best school in the county.

Out of 147 pupils who took their GCSEs last year, 50 per cent achieved at least five A* to C grades. This is slightly higher than the national average of 49.8 per cent but is less than the 2008 score when 54 per cent of pupils achieved at least five A* to C grades.

Martin Smith, headteacher at Axe Valley, said: "We are delighted that 50 per cent of our students achieved five A* to C, including English and maths last summer. This is above the national average and reflects the good standards that were reached.

"Credit goes to the students and staff who worked so hard to secure these superb results. Our biggest improvement was in the number of students achieving five C grades or better. This rose from 61 per cent in 2008 to 69 per cent in 2009. This is not reflected in the league tables but we are especially proud of this achievement.

"We are determined in 2010 to make significant improvements again as part of our mission to become outstanding in every way."

Colyton Grammar School continues to achieve top marks and was ranked as the number one school in Devon and the third best secondary school in England.

A total of 118 pupils took their GCSEs last year with 100 per cent achieving five or more A* to C grades.

This is the fourth year in a row that 100 per cent of pupils have achieved top grades.

Colyton principal Paul Evans said: "The pupils have done especially well. They have worked really hard. I'm pleased with the dedication my staff have shown."

Pupils at Honiton Community College scored slightly lower than the national average with 42 per cent of 173 pupils taking their GCSEs achieving at least five A* to C grades.

However, the percentage is significantly higher than the 2008 results when only 36 per cent of pupils achieved at least five A* to C grades. The college was ranked 41st in Devon.

College principal Glenn Smith said: "I am extremely pleased to be the new principal of Honiton Community College and it is my intention to further raise the good reputation it has within the community.

"My primary focus is the all-round education and development of all our students, in a safe and supportive environment.

"Honiton Community College has a comprehensive intake and prides itself on providing a personalised curriculum that enables every student, irrespective of academic ability, to succeed. The college's GCSE indicator rose by six per cent last year, however, my staff and I are determined to ensure we continue to raise the bar and become one of the top performing schools in the country. This is our goal."

The King's School, Ottery St Mary, achieved one of its highest ever scores.

Out of 179 pupils who took their GCSEs in 2009, 68 per cent achieved five or more A* to C grades, placing the school as 12th best overall in Devon.

Faith Jarrett, headteacher at King's, said: "I am really, really opposed to league tables of examination results as they tell you very little about the quality of education that children actually receive and can be extremely misleading to say the least.

"As you can see The King's School is near the top of the tables so I am not saying this because we are unhappy with our results or position in a table but because league tables are not what we are about here.

"Our aim is to do the absolute best for every student, irrespective of where we then appear in a table. However, in terms of simply our own 2009 exam results we were needless to say delighted.

"The students gained some fantastic results which meant that they had so many doors open to them to continue in education or to secure one of the increasingly rare jobs. These results are the outcome of a really strong partnership between the staff, the students and their families and a great deal of hard work over five years.

"We have already set this year's Year 11 the challenge of seeing if they can outperform the 2009 group, quite a challenge."

Town unsung heroes praise

TWO town councillors praised unsung heroes when Axminster Town Council held its January meeting.

First out was councillor Graham Godbeer. He had been approached by a member of the public who wanted it made public how helpful young people of the Foxhill area had been to the elderly during the snow chaos.

Youngsters, and some of their parents, had helped to clear pavements and thereby made life a lot easier for the elderly.

Councillor John Jeffery heaped praise on Axminster company Westcrete for opening up "all sorts of times" to provide farmers with sand.

The sand was primarily used for gritting purposes to help milk tankers get traction.

"Otherwise a lot of milk would have gone to waste," councillor Jeffery said.

Philip Scriven was born in Chard in 1920, and was a chorister at Westminster Abbey and a music scholar at Charterhouse. He went on to study at the Royal Academy of Music; St John's College, Cambridge; the Musikhochschule in Vienna; and the Juilliard School in New York.

As a recitalist, Philip has toured Europe, Canada and the USA, and in 1995 he won the Royal College of Organists' Performer of the Year title. In September 1998 he returned to Westminster Abbey as Acting Sub-Organist, and a year later moved to Winchester Cathedral as Assistant Master of Music. He took up his current position as Organist and Master of the Choristers at Lichfield Cathedral in September 2002.

TOWN COUNCIL DEFENDS PLAN TO EMPLOY A DEPUTY CLERK

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@findlenews.co.uk

AXMINSTER Town Council has defended its decision to seek a deputy town clerk.

The decision was made by the council's employment committee on Wednesday, January 6th, but was questioned by councillor Mervyn Symes during the full council meeting on Monday, January 11th.

Among other things, councillor Symes said the public was likely to ask why a deputy town clerk was needed.

His fellow councillors, however, defended the decision robustly, some saying the town clerk's workload had increased "beyond comparison" in recent years.

Councillor Jeremy Walden, for example, said: "We are asking the town clerk every single meeting we have to write more letters and so on."

He added that the town clerk was the first point of call for members of the public enquiring about everything from council housing to the war in Iraq.

Councillor Walden concluded: "To be effective as a town council we need the staffing."

It was also pointed out that the amount of correspondence from East Devon District Council and other bodies is far greater than it used to be.

Another issue is the fact that members of the public come in to enquire during non-opening hours as the doors are open, adding to the town clerk's workload.

Minutes from the employment committee meeting elaborated on this issue, saying: "Councillors Jones and Collard visited the offices of the Honiton town clerk who had confirmed that one of the most time-consuming aspects of the job was dealing with public enquiries."

"Hence Honiton Town Council had, in recent years, appointed a deputy town clerk and also had two administrative assistants."

"This has freed the town clerk to deal with the more important items without interruption."

"Axminster Town Council needs to follow this pattern as the workload has increased in recent years and is likely to go on doing so, especially as a result of the push towards unitary authorities."

The post for a part-time deputy town clerk in Axminster is currently being advertised.

Police pleased but not complacent at low crime reports

AXMINSTER police have listed several reasons for the fact that recorded crime on the town beat stayed below the 300 mark last year.

A total of 298 crimes were recorded, which is marginally less than the 310 cases in 2008 — but a massive drop compared to the 499 cases in 2004 and the 479 cases in 2005.

Officers are pleased but not complacent. Sergeant Peter Tudgeon suggested that the setting up of dedicated neighbourhood policing teams is starting to show as one reason for the low number.

PC Darren Herridge added that working with the college and youth club in various ways has proved helpful, and he praised both establishments for the role they play.

He also mentioned other community initiatives, including a recent commando challenge, and said: "The willingness to commit crime is lower because of the respect and relationship built up between police and the community."

Sergeant Tudgeon is adamant the low number of recorded crime did not materialise because people have become less inclined to report crime.

He said: "I think people report more these days. And we do encourage reporting because it allows us to find out what is going on."

Both officers also agreed that having had a full set of staff during 2009 certainly helped, both in terms of preventing crime and detecting it.

The detection rate for 2009 was 32.89 per cent — which compares favourably to 22.58 per cent in 2008 and 23.66 per cent in 2007.

Store champion Kath extends invitation for 'ideas meeting'

TESCO'S community champion for Axminster, Kath Rabjohns, is inviting schools, charities and other organisations to the store this month.

The event is staged from 10am-2pm on Thursday, January 21st and Friday, January 22nd.

Kath's aim is to give the people an opportunity to meet her and find out about her role as well as making suggestions.

She said: "The tasks of the community champion include coordinating major fundraising events at the store, giving educational talks about healthy eating and greener living at local schools, and working with clubs and charities."

She took up her role in March last year and has regularly been seen in local newspapers handing out cheques to worthy causes.

Those unable to attend the store can call her on 07885 286700 to find out more or make suggestions on how she and the company can play a role locally.

There's been snow time for any sledging

SOMETIMES I think I am such a typical Brit. I wish all year long for snow and then, when I get it, it just turns out to be a pain and I can't wait for it to go.

Maybe the idea of the perfect winter wonderland is best just left as that — an idea.

What would be ideal is if we could have a good few inches of snow just for one day, and if we could all know in advance we could have the day off work and go sledging, snowball fighting and such and then back to normal the day after.

In fact, a public snow holiday would be great and if we could order it for a Monday even better. Snow Holiday Monday, it's got a ring to it, hasn't it?

The trouble is it doesn't work like that and we get snow when we're all at work, ill or doing something else that is more important. The country comes to a standstill and no one can get anywhere. Where are those public reindeer sleighs when you need them?

I was working so much I nearly blinked and missed the white stuff and then, when I got half a day off from work, I was too ill to enjoy it. No sledging for me. And My Lovely Farmer even promised to make me a Super Sledge out of animal feed bags and straw which, I have on good authority, are the best kind.

Boo hoo. Of course, I'm just feeling sorry for myself when I know other people were making the most of it. We've had some great pictures sent in of readers enjoying the wintry weather — and some who haven't.

The disruption and danger the snow and ice can cause is not a laughing matter though. Many a car accident has been down to the weather conditions and it's no fun for those who are really stuck out in the sticks.

The gritting issue on roads has been a widespread talking point over the last few weeks. However, I must admit, I think the council has done pretty well from what I have seen. I know it is frustrating for people who live in the countryside with the small roads and lanes not being treated but, surely, it's not humanly possible to get every road gritted in such a small space of time?

And it's only for a few days we have to put up with the conditions. Unlike the winter that snowed from January until March.

It was the winter of 1962-63 and my Dad remembers it well. It was likely to have been worse in Kent, where he lived at the time, than the Westcountry.

He says it was the year the sea froze. He was about 15 and he played ice hockey on the sea with his friend. Not only that but as the froth of the ocean sprayed up onto the beach, it froze mid-air capturing a host of sealife including crabs and lobster, and when it began to melt, they started to wriggle!

So, I guess we ought to think ourselves lucky in the hope that we won't get more winter whites that will last until the spring. Mind you, a sledging bonanza farmer-style will definitely be on the cards for me if we do.

I'd also like to thank all the readers who sent us in their snow photos, although I am yet to see photographic evidence of a snowman holding a copy of Pulman's View. Next year maybe.

◆ JESS Chapple and Lucy Coombe head up a glitzy charity bash

By KATE ERIN MEW

kate@tindlenews.co.uk

TWO local ladies have thrown themselves into hosting a glitzy charity ball for a cause very close to their hearts.

Jess Chapple and Lucy Coombe, who both work in Axminster, are hoping their Black Tie Winter Theme Ball will be a resounding success raising a hefty cash sum for two cancer charities.

Both girls have lost family members to the disease and wanted to raise funds to help other families.

All profits from the ball, to be held at Uplyme Village Hall on Saturday, February 20th, will go to Force cancer charity and Exeter's Hospiscare.

Jess, 23, who works at Reflections Hair and Beauty Salon, organised a similar event in 2008 which made a whopping £4,500 for Force.

Jess said: "The Pink Ball in 2008 was such a success that I wanted to do something similar again to raise more for the charity and to give people something fun to look forward to in February.

"It's going to be very posh — black tie — and like a winter wonderland, so it's a great opportunity for people to dress up and have fun as well as raising some cash."

After hosting the previous event with a friend who is now away travelling, Jess roped in Lucy's help this time around.

Lucy, 23, a legal secretary for Bevis and Beckingsale Solicitors, said: "We have both lost relatives to cancer so we both feel very strongly about it. My uncle died of a brain tumour, we were very close. It sounds cheesy but we wanted to make a difference."

The glitzy event will be a ticket-only affair, costing the entrant £20 which will include a glass of bubbly on arrival and a finger buffet.

Entertainment will be provided by popular local band Real World as well as a disco by Simon Flux, who will provide his services free of charge as one of his four annually-nominated charities.

Lucy said: "Bevis and Beckingsale is sponsoring the whole event, which means it is shelling out for most of the costs, and the Talbot Arms, of Uplyme, will be catering and running the bar. So many people and businesses have come forward in support."

To add to the fun, there will be a grand draw to include many prizes from local businesses such as Axminster Carpets, River Cottage, Axminster Power Tools and Reflections Hair and Beauty Salon. There are also tickets to be won to watch Exeter Chiefs Rugby Club and Yeovil Town Football Club among other prizes.

Jess added: "This year some of the money will go to Hospiscare as well as Force because it's another great charity. I'm hoping that we can match the £4,500 we made last time — and go beyond that if possible."

Tickets are selling fast for the event, which has all the ingredients to be a spectacular affair, and can only be bought in advance from Reflections Hair and Beauty Salon — 01297 34277, Bevis and Beckingsale Solicitors — 01297 630700 and the Talbot Arms — 01297 443136. Any businesses which would like to donate a prize for the draw can contact the above numbers.

Guest house wins quality accreditation

BY ANDERS LARSSON
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

A HUNTERS Lodge guest house has won Jurassic Coast Quality Business Scheme accreditation (JCQBS).

The scheme is funded by the South West Regional Development Agency (SWRDA) and the objective is to make businesses benefit from the Jurassic Coast's World Heritage Status and to contribute to the visitor experience.

Hedgehog Corner is owned by Joy Raymond, who said: "I had to attend courses and take written examinations covering various subjects including marketing, business planning, customer service, health and safety and green tourism over a 12-month period.

"It was quite amusing going back to the classroom at my age and taking tests, but I saw it all as a great challenge and am just so pleased I got through it all.

"It was well worth the effort. Tara Dare and Sheila Sherwin, who help me run my business, made it possible for me to attend the courses held all over Devon and Dorset.

"They did such a good job looking after my guests in my absence.

"I would recommend other businesses along the Jurassic Coast, which stretches from Exmouth to Swanage, to join the programme.

"The benefits are enormous and you meet some very interesting experts in different subjects and make good contacts in your own line of business."

The scheme's programme manager, Debra Horlock, said: "Hedgehog Corner is a shining example of a business that has grasped the Jurassic Coast opportunity and wants to be part of the Jurassic Coast quality experience."

Department store's festive sales report

AN Axminster department store has enjoyed one of its best ever Christmas and new year trading periods.

Trinity House and Trinity House Home in Style, both based in Trinity Square, was one of only a handful of shops open in the town on Monday, December 28th, and staff say they enjoyed a busy time with customers searching out any Boxing Day bargains.

Trevor Roberts, a director of the company, said: "The build-up to the festive season was steady, with more people apparently shopping locally than in previous years.

"With December 27th, traditionally the start of Trinity House's sale, falling on a Sunday, shoppers had to wait another 24 hours before they could search out those bargains.

"We were a little puzzled to note that after a three-day break, very few shops were open in Axminster on the Monday (December 28th).

"However, this did not deter a huge number of shoppers from visiting us and picking up genuine bargains throughout both stores."

Mr Roberts added that ladies' clothing and cookware were the favourite items and that as the week progressed the number of people spending in the store continued to increase.

He said: "We have been delighted with the start to the sale and we are confident that people will continue to value the service, as well as the money saving bargains, an independently owned business can offer its customers.

"I would also like to thank all our staff who worked so hard both in the run up to Christmas and during the holiday week."

Fast fit centre offers free tyre safety checks in bad weather

AS the cold weather continues to bite a fast fit centre in Honiton is promising to provide free tyre safety checks to its customers throughout January.

HiQ, King Street, is also backing calls from the police for motorists to take care whilst using the roads across east Devon.

HiQ's centre manager Julian Hellyer urged motorists to drive with more caution in bad weather as braking and steering manoeuvres will not be as responsive as normal.

He said: "Braking on snow and ice may take 10 times longer. Drivers should be mindful that not all roads are gritted by the local highways authorities and, in any case, gritting a road does not mean it is safe.

"Roads can re-freeze after being gritted so it is safer to treat every road as ungritted and drive in accordance with the conditions. The weather we have experienced at the beginning of this month has been as bad as we can all remember, so for customers looking to get their cars prepared for the cold weather, a comprehensive check carried out by fully trained HiQ technicians is ideal."

Safety gone overboard

EDITOR — Over the recent months I have noticed more and more man-made additions to Roundball Hill in the form of wooden hand rails and platforms.

I feel that these additions to the woodland spoil the natural feel and look of the area.

Though I do see that they obviously added these for 'health and safety' reasons, even though often they themselves are the cause of injury by becoming slippery in wet conditions (which is more than often).

If you ask me, this is the start of health and safety going overboard. Sure, you may get a bit muddy without them there but don't we all expect that from a country path?

Isn't that what going to an outdoor environment is all about — experiencing nature?

Also, the wooden planks crossing just before the bottom steps have gaps easy to get your foot caught both for humans and dogs.

So are we really going to take away the meaning of going into the woods, into a field, into the countryside by replacing the natural pathways with hideous manmade platforms boxing us in with hand rails on either side of us?

Planning man seems to have missed the point of the trials

EDITOR — Tesco Embankment Trial, Seaton.

I refer to your front page report Pulman's View from Seaton (Tuesday, January 12th) and feel it necessary to make the following comments based on my extensive civil engineering experience of such matters.

I agree with all the concerns that Graeme Peace of the Highways Agency has raised. In my view, the very nature of the whole of the Tesco land is likely to be very varied. One trial area is quite insufficient on which to base foundation design. Too many projects have cost much more than estimated and taken longer to complete due to the need to redesign.

The filling to be used in any trials must be similar to the sea bed material proposed for the whole regeneration area to give any representative results on settlement. To allow only six months for settlement is much too short a period, 12 months should be a minimum. This period should commence only when the whole of the trial areas are completed.

Mr Simon Chadwick, of Signet Planning, as reported, seems to have missed the point of the settlement trials. It is no good taking earth from "various parts of the regeneration site" to form the proposed embankment, and where is the compacted concrete to come from?

It is to be hoped that East Devon District Council in giving planning permission has taken the above matters into account in making its decision.

Axed services is not the only option

EDITOR — East Devon District Council has recently been asking the public taxpayer what services should be axed to save the budget money.

This is not the only option in the real world.

I can not believe this, as we pay millions of pounds a year to EDDC to manage east Devon for us and keep the area in a reasonable and safe condition.

I viewed their consultation web site and out of their suggestion for either 14 cuts or savings you could only choose three of them, do the other 11 departments suggested for cutting not need our feed back?

The most obvious cut was not included in the ballot, a cut back of five per cent in salaries for all EDDC staff as a lot of the national work force has had to endure in these inclement times.

We must still invest in the area, keep it clean and the flower beds planted as we are, after all, mostly tourist income driven

It's bad enough closing toilets as EDDC did a few years ago to save money.

Come on EDDC, show the tax payer that you are feeling the pinch as we are in the real world.

Hospitals are open to visit

EDITOR — We are disappointed that the article in Pulman's View (Tuesday, January 12th) urged relatives of patients to stay away from Axminster and Honiton hospitals. This has caused unnecessary concern for both patients and their relatives who have been left confused by the article.

The information we gave your newspaper clearly stated that there were no cases of Norovirus in either Axminster or Honiton hospital and we did not ask people to refrain from visiting those hospitals.

Instead, we appealed to visitors, and the public, that they frequently wash their hands with soap and water and disinfect surfaces to help limit the spread of the infection. People should only avoid visiting hospitals that have Norovirus.

Admiration for RD&E

EDITOR — So much talk about hospitals these days. I have only praise and sheer admiration for all at the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital. Such warmth, dedication and hard work goes into each job they do. Fine doctors, nurses, porters and cleaners. In fact everyone who works there.

My heart goes out to those lovely cancer support nurses and surgeons who have to deal with this dreadful disease so rife today. You should be proud of your work and hospital.

TONY JACKSON

A bird die-off in icy weather?

WE have all, I imagine, had rather more than a bellyful of the great but short freeze and I, for one, breathed a fervent sigh of relief as temperatures rose last week and the snow in my region rapidly vanished to leave bleached grass and battered grass under dull grey skies and pending rain.

Like, I hope, most readers I provided wild bird life with extra food during the cold spell, but my feeders were by no means inundated with starving, clamouring birds. Robins, blackbirds, the odd sparrow and a few blue-tits and cole tits queued up for their early morning and late afternoon rations but numbers were surprisingly modest.

Has there been a substantial die-off during the icy, ground hard days? I doubt it, and even if there have been some losses, then larger broods in the spring will probably compensate. I can recall that in the much longer freeze of 1963 there was a substantial loss of bird life.

This freeze was relatively short, even if it did cause chaos simply because, unlike our Scandinavian neighbours, we are not used to a regular blanket of snow and ill-equipped to deal with it when it does arrive.

In Finland, Helsinki Airport remains open throughout the winter, despite temperatures which may plummet to minus 30C, simply because they have the right equipment to deal with snow, whereas our airports come to a slithering halt under a couple of inches of white stuff.

As an aside, I find the politically correct use of centimetres by weather forecasters infuriating. Why on earth can't we use inches and feet, measurements which we all understand and can at once comprehend?

Now, what's new in the regions? Well, in the Blackdown Hills the Forestry Commission and the Hawk and Owl Trust are working together trying to discover the status of long-eared owls in the Neroche area and volunteers will be carrying out surveys to discover how many pairs of this rare owl exist there.

The surveys, led by Chris Sperring, will start in mid-February and will involve playing recordings of long-eared owls hooting to see if any birds respond. The call is long drawn out and quavering, very unlike that of the tawny owl. These owls have a preference for fir woods and during the daylight hours will sit closely pressed against a trunk and nearly invisible, only flying at dusk in search of small birds and mammals.

If you would like to become one of the Neroche Conservation Volunteers, a group which meets on the second Wednesday of each month to carry out practical conservation, work then contact the Neroche Scheme office on 01823 680846 or email info@nerochescheme.org.

Some time ago I mentioned the introduction of four Shetland cattle to the Dorset Wildlife Trust's Corfe Mullen Meadow nature reserve in order to help with conservation management by cropping the grass to allow wild flowers to flourish.

Full size cattle, Shetlands are very hardy and thrive on poor pasture, so making them ideal for this essential conservation work. They will browse willow, birch, making them ideal as a breed for this particular reserve.

Now two calves have been born to the little herd and both are thriving, despite the recent cold spell. There is also likely to be an addition as another cow is expected to calve shortly. However, visitors are asked not to approach the cattle or try to feed them, especially as they now have young ones. Dogs must also not be brought anywhere near them.

Shetland cattle are indeed rare, so much so that they are on the Rare Breeds Survival Trust's "at risk" list as numbers have dropped dramatically due to intensive farming.

Hours helps TIC visitor increase of over 2,000

EXTENDED opening hours played a major part in Axminster Tourist Information Centre (TIC) receiving more than 10,000 visits last year.

The grand total came to 10,102, which is a good increase compared to 2008 when 8,003 visits were made.

TIC manager Sarah Crook said that extended opening hours introduced in June played an important role.

From the start of June until the end of September, the TIC - which is run by Axminster Chamber of Commerce - traded for six hours a day, six days a week.

"I'm thrilled we reached 10,000 despite the wet summer. I'm certain the festival and various other events put on attract visitors - and so do River Cottage, which remains popular," Sarah said.

The TIC is not only for visitors, but is also used by people living in the area who wish to enquire about shows, sort out bus passes and collect timetables, for example.

In addition, the TIC is also a recycling drop off point for Christmas cards until the end of this month.

Sarah hasn't set a visitor target for 2010 but is preparing for a challenge.

She believes that many holiday makers will opt for overseas sun this summer because the predicted 'barbecue' summer of 2009 never materialised.

She hopes, though, this year will be as busy as the previous one, saying: "We have first class attractions, events and accommodation here."

Charity movie club seeks new members

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

A POPULAR club in Seaton is hoping to increase its membership in 2010.

Seaton Film Club is a charity organisation that has been showing films at the town hall for eight years.

The club shows a range of films throughout the year and also organises various social events for its members.

Roger Upright, of the Seaton Film Club committee, said: "We want to make sure that as many people as possible are made aware of the club and this includes those who have recently moved into the area.

"We show films throughout the year and have a Christmas party in December to thank all our members and friends of the club for their support."

In an effort to increase numbers anyone who renews their existing membership or joins as a new member before the end of March will be entered into a prize draw, the winner will receive £50.

Mr Upright added: "As with any club we need to continually increase our membership, with this in mind we would like to offer an incentive to renew existing membership and to encourage new members to join.

"Our membership fee is still only £2.50 per year, this gives you a regular news letter giving details of forthcoming films, plus the chance to buy tickets in advance of non members.

"We show a range of films throughout the year and still only charge £7 which includes a chicken and chip supper. A licensed bar is available during the evening which makes it a very social event, not just to see a film but to spend time with friends."

Membership forms can be found at Panic Design, Marine Place, and the 4

C's fish restaurant in Harbour Road.

Alternatively you can download a membership form from the clubs website by logging on to www.seatonfilmclub.co.uk.

It can also help the students find employment.

The show will also include Jive dancers from Exmouth, fundraising games, clothes and a prize auction.

The lord mayor of Exeter and the mayor of Honiton will be attending the show to support the event.

Tickets cost £5.50 and are available from the Turks Head and the Hospiscare shop in Honiton High Street.

Pirate theme raises money

A PIRATES of the Caribbean-themed collection at Tesco's Axminster branch just before Christmas raised £340.34.

The one-day event saw staff members gathered just inside the entrance, dressed as pirates, offering customers a mince pie in exchange for a donation to The Muscular Dystrophy Campaign.

As an added bonus, staff also did some carol singing for customers.

The campaign is Tesco's charity for 2009 and the Axminster branch has raised £3,084.89 — exceeding the £3,000 target — through various initiatives.

Axminster branch community champion Kath Rabjohns said: "We thank the public again. If it weren't for them, we wouldn't raise the money although we bribed them with a mince pie on this occasion."

Pair crack secret code

TWO Honiton Community College students have triumphed at the National Cipher Challenge run by Southampton University.

The challenge is web based and youngsters taking part had to decipher cryptic messages in order to crack a secret code.

Year 12 students Kyle Bonetta-Martin and Aaron King, formed a team called ESG.

They took part in two challenges, challenge A and challenge B.

They came joint first in challenge A — out of 256 teams — and 68th in challenge B — out of 123 teams.

Thousands of teams from across the UK took part in the competition.

◆ SEATON Lions Club presented a cheque for £1,000 to Colyton Primary School last week, from the money they raised with their Father Christmas float. Recycling roadshows come to town

RECYCLING roadshows are coming to places in and around Honiton as East Devon District Council (EDDC) gets ready to introduce major changes to the way rubbish and recycling is collected in the area.

The change is being implemented as EDDC looks to increase its rate of recycling to more than 50 per cent.

The roadshow will start in Honiton on Monday, January 25th and will then tour villages surrounding the town including Dunkswell, Stockland, Feniton, Offwell, Wilmington, Dalwood and Broadhembury.

David Cox, EDDC's portfolio holder responsible for the waste and recycling service, said: "We know from experience that any major change like this makes some people concerned and uncomfortable at first.

"That is why we are putting a lot of effort into providing information leaflets and roadshows so people can find out what they need to know before the change takes place. We all need to do as much as we can for the environment.

"It's vital that we reduce landfill and increase the number and volume of the materials that we recycle. Councils play a large part in this by collecting and processing the waste, but we can't do anything without the help and cooperation of our residents."

In brief, the change will mean weekly collections of recycling materials, new weekly collections of food waste and fortnightly collections of landfill waste.

Throughout this month each household will be issued with a small food waste caddy for the kitchen, a larger food waste container to put out for collection and a wheelie bin for landfill waste.

For more information about the changes in your area, including times and locations of the roadshows, visit www.eastdevon.gov.uk/recycling_and_refuse. Alternatively contact 01395 571515.

Police arrest drug couple

POLICE in Honiton have arrested two men and a woman after a quantity of cannabis and equipment used for growing the drug was found.

The man driving the van was arrested and taken to Heavitree Road Police Station, Exeter, whilst further enquiries are made.

Two separate addresses in the town where searched and more than 250 cannabis plants at various stages of growth were discovered.

A man aged 40 and a woman aged 30, are assisting police with their enquiries and have been bailed until March this year.

Pulman's

the churches

With Nigel Speller

AS the wintry weather continues to embrace east Devon — as well as lots of other parts — notices of church events seem to be a continuous succession of postponed or cancelled, and our sympathy goes out to the organisers and those who have missed something special such as a good speaker or a special tea.

There are, however, positive things which have happened as result of the wintry weather. I have personal knowledge of a neighbour who enquired if a gentleman living on his own if he had a supply of bread — as if not, she had a loaf to offer — he accepted and dressed up to go and collect it; the next moment the good neighbour was at the door delivering it. Does it take snow to bring out this spirit in us?

Then I hear about a leader of a young church group, who now lives outside the parish where she does Sunday church duty with the children. As snow and ice interrupted, the said leader put on warm boots and clothing and took a broom to clear her path of snow and walked the six miles return to keep her Sunday date with the young people. Surely these are two super examples of community and Christian spirit which is so often around at such times. Let's hope that spirit does not disappear when the snow has! And as a postscript special thanks to those who kept the roads open and brought our post, newspapers and items in the shops.

Bishop Bob of Crediton is scheduled to make a future visit to the Colyton Benefice when he comes to visit and preach at Southleigh church in mid February. He goes on later in the day to Honiton to officiate at a service of Confirmation or Laying on of Hands, where those being confirmed will include three members of the same family who worship usually at Colyton.

With the interruption of regular events in Devon, news has reached here of churches overseas which are linked with those in Devon. There is rejoicing at the release of the hostage, Peter Moore, who was taken captive over two years ago with colleagues. Canon Andrew White, the Chaplain at Baghdad, which is linked with the Tiverton Deanery, played a part in the search for the hostages and the subsequent release.

Other good news from the State of Abu Dhabi, Middle East, is that the Crown Prince of that state has agreed to provide help with funds for the refurbishment of St Andrew's Church compound there. The Diocese of Exeter link with Abu Dhabi is the Deanery of Tavistock. The church at Abu Dhabi, under Revd Clive Windebank, hosts services for more than 80 Christian denominations weekly from the Ethiopian Orthodox to the Mar Thoma Church and Seventh Day Adventists. The church compound is usually bursting with people from Fridays onward with congregations totaling 20,000 in all on these days, and they comprise toddler groups to community gatherings.

Other news from Middle East churches is that in Aden the Bishop in Cyprus and the Gulf is due to ordain a Deacon as assistant chaplain there on January 15th.

And at Limassol, Cyprus, comes news of the award of the MBE in the Queen's New Year Honours List to Keith Schonfeld, who has been a long-serving administrator of the British Cemetery at Limassol and treasurer of St Barnabas Church, Limassol.

At Westminster Abbey, a former Rector of Honiton, Canon Dr Jane

Hedges, now on the staff of the abbey, chaired a discussion there on the subject of Women Bishops — Where does the Church of England go from here? The panel included two bishops, a theological college principal and the Canon Precentor of St Paul's Cathedral.

A new report entitled Going for Growth coming to the Church of England General Synod in February suggests that unconfirmed children should assist at Eucharistic worship. Its aim is to reach the thousands of unchurched children across the UK more effectively and encourage them to participate in services. Already 15 per cent of Anglican churches in UK admit children to communion before confirmation, and the report suggests that they should act as altar servers just as adults do. Many independent and non-conformist churches already permit children as servers at the Eucharist.

Some weeks ago we had news of the progress of Exeter Cathedral Third Millennium Campaign. Now I bring word of a vacancy in the campaign team for a full-time campaign officer from February, working five days a week and requiring IT and customer service skills. For details, call 01392 285974.

Colyton Leisure Lunches start on January 21st at the Sunday School building. Please sign up in church, information on 01297 552212.

As the year progresses, the church's seasons change as well, and shortly the season of Lent begins, on February 17th. Parishes requiring Palm Crosses for distribution on Palm Sunday, March 28th, may not be too late to order those grown and made in the Diocese of Cyprus and the Gulf at £12 for 100 post-free. Contact 01395 269811.

It was a nice day for a real white wedding

ONE happy couple certainly had a real white wedding as their big day was decorated with a carpet of hail.

Katie Harris and Duncan Stamp tied the knot on December 23rd last year at Axminster's Minster Church.

A deluge of white hail fell just before and during the service, making the Christmassy wedding complete.

The reception was held at Haselbury Mill, Crewkerne, and the newlyweds, who live in Cherry Tree Road, Axminster, honeymooned in the Maldives — to warm up.

Katie is a teacher working in Bridport and Duncan is a physiotherapist based in Exeter.

Brisk start to the new year at Strictly Business

AS the bells ring to celebrate a new year and the snow slowly melts, business is getting back to normal and the property industry is no exception, reporting a brisk start for 2010.

The residential lettings market is becoming more competitive and buy to let is giving a favourable return in comparison to bank interest.

An increasing number of property related businesses seem to be turning their hand to lettings. Vicki Spence-Thomas at Strictly Business based in Seaton has been letting and managing residential property for many years throughout East Devon she reports there is a wide range of training available through the Association of Residential Letting Agents for those interested in venturing into the lettings market.

ARLA have been instrumental in promoting training, implementing many changes, legislation and best practise within the industry for many years and welcome new members. They have recently introduced licensed member offices nationwide giving huge confidence and peace of mind to both tenants and landlords.

The industry's ombudsman has reported that the rising number of the complaints levelled at landlords and letting agents recently has been due to lack of knowledge and experience and of course the wording of that tenancy agreement!

The tenancy agreement is a vital document; they can be downloaded via the internet with ease but a practice not to be recommended. Strictly Business prepares all tenancy documents 'in house' and each one is tailored to individual requirements. Clients can be assured of a friendly, efficient service to both landlords and tenants.

As ARLA agents we know only too well the importance of an accurate, detailed property schedule and inventory/check in report. This document can avoid huge, potential problems at the end of a tenancy; it may cost a little extra but worth every penny. Regular property inspections are also key to a smooth running tenancy.

Consider carefully the wisdom of letting a property without the services of an agent and that the cheapest quote for letting your property may not be the best one! We can offer advice on the following: tenancy agreements, deposits, energy performance certificates, gas safety checks, electrical checks. Buildings and contents insurance, tax relief on income. All part of our letting and management services.

Deposits, it seems are becoming another bone of contention within the industry and many are not protected. Strictly Business holds Professional indemnity cover – an insurance that covers our business practice and all clients' money. Furthermore it is ring fenced and our fully audited accounts are submitted each year to ARLA in order to comply with the regulations and continue membership.

Thinking of a buy to let investment?

ANDREW Luxton MRICS FARLA, Partner in charge of Stags Residential Lettings Department advises that all landlords considering a Buy To Let Investment in 2010 should consider all the following points very carefully.

1) Plan to be a Buy To Let Landlord over the medium to long term that produces a variable combination of rental yield and capital appreciation.
2) Make an objective business decision when purchasing a property based on research of the needs and requirements of the local market, not based on personal taste.

3) Be aware that the rental market is fast moving with fluctuating supply and demand which can influence achievable rental levels and occupancy rates.

4) Take informed advice from professional letting agents and specialized financial advisors from the beginning.

Andrew Luxton advises that many people enter the Buy To Let investment market without taking the necessary advice and as a result, are often disappointed by the results. The last two quarters of 2009 showed significant increase in landlords reinvesting in the Buy to Let market as rental levels remain stable and capital values begin to increase. For further free no obligation rental advice on any aspect of a Buy to Let investment or property management then contact your local Stags lettings office on 01404 42553.

Chainfree homes offered to help rising buyer demand across Devon

THE New Year has brought increased levels of confidence to the property market with demand for hassle free house moves growing.

Statistics issued by Fulfords, part of Countrywide, the UK's largest estate agents, reveal a 24 percent increase in viewings and a 45 percent increase in buyer enquiries during December with many buyers turning to the UK's largest Chainfree initiative, which links buyers and sellers to properties where there is no property chain.

The rising number of mortgage approvals and improving house prices are also positive signs that have led to an increasing number of buyers in Devon and throughout the UK searching for their next home.

Properties registered as Chainfree through Fulfords include those that are available for immediate occupation, including vacant properties, local sellers wanting a quick sale and are those who have owners who are prepared to move out on completion, part-exchange, relocation instructions, repossession and probate properties.

Thousands of homeowners throughout Devon and the UK have registered their properties as Chainfree since launching the initiative in April 2008 to cope with the market demand.

Ed Parker, Managing Director said: "Eager buyers entering the market are looking for properties with uncomplicated chains to reach a quicker sale. Chainfree can remove the hassle and complications sometimes associated with chains. Thousands of Chainfree properties were snapped up in 2009 and we anticipate this to continue in 2010."

Contact Fulfords to find out more about viewing Chainfree properties by calling Freecall 0500 825663 (or visit www.propertywide.co.uk).

Sell before the election?

Symonds and Sampson Axminster office are experiencing a good demand for properties in the Axe Valley area but the supply of properties available is somewhat limited.

Many capable applicants wish to move during the next few months so Symonds and Sampson recommend that you place your property on the market fairly soon in order to benefit from the activity during the first part of the year.

It is quite likely that the general election will be followed by a period of uncertainty which could affect the market and this is even more reason to market your home sooner rather than later.

To discuss your plans please contact Symonds and Sampson on 01297 33122 or email axminster@symondsandsampson.co.uk

MIDLAKE TO SUPPORT NEW ALBUM WITH EXETER GIG

TEXAN alt-folk/country quintet Midlake will be playing at Exeter Phoenix on Monday, January 25th. The gig is in support of their third full length studio album 'The Courage of Others', following on from Bamnan and Silvercork (2004) and The Trials of Van Occupanther (2006).

Midlake was formed in 1999 by a group of jazz students at the University of North Texas. The original lineup consisted of Tim Smith (vocals, guitars, keyboards), McKenzie Smith (drums), Paul Alexander (bass), Eric Nicholson (guitar), and Evan Jacobs (keyboards). Their initial work - under the name 'The Cornbread All-Stars' - consisted of funk/jazz explorations influenced heavily by the likes of Herbie Hancock.

The band progressed toward a more experimental indie-rock sound - influences including Radiohead, Jethro Tull and Björk

Evan Jacobs left the band and Eric Nicholson took over on keyboard. Jason Upshaw joined the band as a guitarist. Live recordings from this period, recorded at Denton's Panhandle House studio, were never released as the band felt they had moved beyond the material.

Not long before the band recorded their debut EP, Milkmaid Grand Army, Upshaw was replaced on guitars by Eric Pulido, a longtime friend of drummer Smith, to form the current lineup. Their debut full-length album, 2004's Bamnan and Silvercork, was recorded at home in Denton, Texas and mastered at Abbey Road Studios. It showed a move in the direction of lo-fi psychedelic electronica, embracing influences such as Grandaddy and The Flaming Lips.

In 2006, after nearly a year-and-a-half of recording and re-recording, Midlake completed their second release for the Bella Union label, The Trials of Van Occupanther. The album was a venture into classic-rock revivalism, and the album was met with generally positive reviews.

Midlake's appearance at the Exeter Phoenix takes place on Monday, January 25th, with doors opening at 8pm. For tickets or more information call 01392 667080 or visit www.exeterphoenix.org.uk.

Special evenings at The Old Inn, Kilmingington

The Old Inn at Kilmingington has now had a chance to draw breath after a hectic December. A new program of evening specials has been drawn up. As well as some favourites from the last season they have added a new Italian Night. On March 3rd Adam, the chef at The Old Inn, will be producing a special menu of classic Italian dishes including, seafood items, pasta and pizzas. 'We wanted to do something to welcome in the Spring weather' Adam explained. 'Italian ingredients all shout out fresh summery flavours and is right up our street here.'

The Old Inn, certainly appears to be bucking the trend. Now in their third year Duncan and Leigh Colvin have continued to maintain the same quality of food and service that saw the pub rise to Axminster's attention when they first arrived. Having lived in the village for 5 years before, they identified the need for a good quality family friendly and informal food led pub. 'Making sure we are consistently good at this has been where the hard work has gone in' explained Duncan. 'Making sure that each time a customer comes they can expect the same quality is important during a recession, cutting corners never works in a restaurant – the customer can always tell.'

The special evenings are something to look forward to as we all defrost from the cold snap, a warm welcome and good food is assured at The Old Inn, Kilmingington.

Honiton Pantomime Society to perform Cinderella

CINDERELLA - two strangers meet, they dance together, drink and the girl is home by midnight. A typical one-night stand? The scripts have now been put away, the songs have been learnt and costumes are nearly ready. Rehearsals are now well under way for the extremely amusing Silver Anniversary production of Cinderella by the Honiton Pantomime Society. This locally written production contains all the usual characters together with some quite unexpected ones.

Tickets are now on sale at the Honiton Toy Shop. The performances dates have been slightly changed and are now during the February half-term week of 2010 (Saturday 13th – Saturday 20th). Hopefully this will allow more children of school age to attend, and possibly miss the snow which reduced the numbers attending last year. Due to the popularity of the Saturday performances they are now opening up the dress rehearsal on the 13th to the public, at a much reduced price.

You, the audience can help bring about a happy conclusion to the story by "booing the baddies" and "cheering the goodies".

Get your tickets early to avoid disappointment.

THE LITMUS TEST

THURSDAY January 21st. brings the first concert of 2010 for SeatonMusic. Following the success of their Christmas Concert, (featuring Classic Rhythm), the January offering is a little more traditional.

The Litmus Trio was formed in 1997 by Hannah Lang and Peter Hewitt. The idea of a trio of flute, cello and piano was to be able to explore the wonderful classical repertoire written specifically for this combination. The performers preface each work in an informal way with delightful anecdotal and informative spoken introductions.

Their repertoire runs the gamut of music, from the Baroque, Classical and Romantic eras, through to 20th Century works and a wide range of entertaining encore pieces specially arranged for them. The Litmus Trio enjoys a busy schedule of concerts and past concerts have been at such prestigious venues as St David's Hall, Cardiff.

Their Seaton Concert will include trios by Haydn, Beethoven and Mendelssohn as well as the premier of a new work by Clive Jenkins (b. 1938 in Plymouth), much of whose music shows his West Country roots.

The performance takes place at Seaton Town Hall and will begin at 7.30 p.m. Tickets for the concert are priced at £12 (free if you are a student) and are available on the door or from Eve Gallery, Fore Street, Seaton (Tel.01297 21482) if you wish to book in advance. Either way you will, as always, be assured of a warm welcome at what promises to be an evening of fine music-making.

THE PEUGEOT 308CC GETS NEW HDi DIESEL POWER

THE Peugeot 308 CC will be the first model in the Peugeot range to benefit from a new 1.6 litre 112 bhp diesel engine. This new engine is the result of Peugeot's continual development and optimisation of its diesel HDi FAP technology, widely acclaimed for its performance and efficiency.

This new 1.6 litre HDi FAP diesel engine has been designed to meet the requirements of the new Euro 5 emission standards. It also benefits from a number of improvements over the current 110 bhp unit with improved performance in terms of flexibility and responsiveness, as well as noise reduction, while at the same time reducing fuel consumption and CO2 emissions.

Thanks to its new hi-tech design, this new four cylinder engine with a capacity of 1,560 cm³, and eight valves, has a maximum torque output of 270 Nm at 1,750 rpm, an increase of 12.5% over the current engine, and during overboost, 285 compared to 260 Nm. It also has a very wide operating range with high levels of torque available at all times, ensuring good driveability and reduced fuel consumption on a day to day basis (since the user can drive more often at lower engine speeds): 135 Nm from 1000 rpm, 242 at 1500 rpm, 270 from 1750 to 2000 and 224 Nm at 3500 rpm. Its maximum power output is 112 bhp at 3600 rpm.

New-generation technology

A number of technical developments derived from the extensive know-how of Peugeot's engineers in terms of HDi FAP diesel engines, have made it possible to achieve these improvements. Between this new 1.6 litre HDi and its predecessor, more than 50 % of the parts have been entirely redesigned.

For example, like the new V6 3.0 litre HDi and 2.0 litre HDi diesel engines that were launched this year, Extreme Combustion Chamber System (ECCS) technology is much to the fore.

This state-of-the-art combustion chamber design offers:

- a lower compression ratio (16.0 compared to 17.5 previously) for enhanced performance and reduced emissions (including NOx).
- an increase in the diameter of the combustion chamber (+10%),

- New 1.6 litre HDi FAP 112 bhp Euro 5 Diesel engine introduced
- Significant reductions in fuel consumption and emissions
- Available in Sport and SE trim levels
- Priced from £21,095.00 on-the-road

helping to reduce the quantity of unburnt fuel as a result of less contact with the chamber "walls".

- a reduction of the SWIRL (air movement in the combustion chamber) of nearly 10%, thereby reducing heat loss against the walls.

This technology is combined with a new common rail injection system (Continental Automotive System) where the injection pressure is increased to 1,650 bars (compared to 1600 previously) as well as new piezo-electric injectors with seven apertures (instead of solenoid injectors with six apertures as fitted to the previous 1.6 litre HDi diesel engine).

The engine management software has also been entirely redesigned to give this unit more comprehensive injection mapping (up to 5 injections per cycle), improved efficiency and better diagnostics for after-sales service. This helps to improve the homogeneity of the air/diesel fuel mixture for maximum performance, reduced fuel consumption, a reduction of emissions at source and quieter combustion.

The engine also uses a Honeywell Turbo Technology variable-geometry turbocharger optimised in terms of its size. Being smaller, it has a lower inertia, reducing response times to a minimum. An improved exhaust gas recirculation system (EGR valve) and the reduction of internal friction losses allows maximum enhancement of engine efficiency while minimising potential energy losses. Like its predecessor, this 1.6 litre HDi comes as standard with a diesel particulate emission filter (FAP) with a service life of 112,000 miles.

This new engine will be available in the 308 CC in both Sport and SE trim levels and will be known as the HDi 112.

FLEXDOORS REVEAL NEW MERIVA'S INSIDE LINE ON INNOVATION

- First official interior pics of new Meriva highlight FlexDoor's convenience
- Premium quality and design mark sea-change for Meriva's interior
- Cabin's versatility set to challenge best in class with FlexSpace & FlexRail

VAUXHALL'S first interior pics of its all new Meriva reveal one of the most innovative and stylish cabins in the compact MPV class, and an initial glimpse of the access to the rear of the car offered by its clever and unique-in-class FlexDoors.

Described by Vauxhall/Opel's British Vice President of Design, Mark Adams, as '...an expressive yet functional interior with great roominess and visibility', the Meriva's cabin is set to wow media and public when the car receives its world premiere at the Geneva Motor Show in March.

Combining a fresh interpretation of Vauxhall's interior wing theme, seen in the Insignia and new Astra, the Meriva's designers have lowered and moved the instrument panel forward, creating more space and comfort for front occupants. The Meriva's commanding driving position has also been improved, with narrower, realigned A-pillars and larger quarter-lights. In the rear, the lower 'wave' window line increases visibility for passengers, especially children.

FlexRail – transforming the conventional centre console

The Meriva's unique FlexRail system provides convenient and adaptable storage for a wide range of everyday items, from handbags and colouring books to iPods and sunglasses.

Space for the FlexRail between the front seats has been liberated by raising the gearshift location and replacing the traditional handbrake with an easy to use electric park brake button (standard on all models). The result is an uninterrupted storage zone that extends rearward from the base of the centre stack and is accessible from the rear seats.

FlexRail's floor module comprises two cup holders, Aux-in/USB connections and a 12-volt socket. Above this area, on certain models, twin polished aluminium rails feature, and on the range-topping SE a flip-top armrest module is attached, with a smaller storage/cup holder tray sitting below it. Both can be shifted into a variety of fixed positions along the rails, while rear seat passengers benefit from the option of a rear armrest module, which can be fitted to the centre seat back section when it's folded down between them.

FlexSpace rear seating system – more intuitive than ever before

The new Meriva's innovative FlexSpace system offers a range of cabin configurations without having to remove any seats, and is now improved with a one-step action when sliding the rear seat cushions or when lowering the rear seatbacks.

While FlexSpace makes it easy for owners to convert the Meriva from five seats to two, both its outer rear seats can be moved fore and aft individually, and also slide inwards to provide more shoulder width and leg room in a spacious four-seat layout. Additionally, rear seat backs can be fully lowered without having to remove their head restraints.

Rear seatbacks up, the Meriva's boot has a 400-litre capacity, increasing to 920-litres with the seatbacks folded. But use all the space up to the roof and an impressive 1500-litres capacity is available.

Clever storage where it matters

Taking a leaf out of the new Astra's book, Vauxhall's designers have created real-world storage solutions for 20 of the most popular items owners carry in their cars.

An ample glovebox has a space-saving shelf for the owner's manual, as well as coins and pens. Elsewhere, there's a mini glovebox on the driver's side, while door pockets can carry drinks bottles of up to 1.5-litre capacity in the front and up to 1.0-litre in the rear. Above the driver's door, there's a flip-down compartment for sunglasses, and on certain models a pull-out draw is available beneath the front passenger seat, suitable for books or valuable items.

In the luggage area, the floor can be set to bumper height for ease of loading and under-floor stowage, while storage compartments are provided in the boot's sidewalls. The Meriva's parcel shelf can be removed and stowed neatly away behind the rear seats.

Škoda Trio Recognised at What Car? Awards

ŠKODA is delighted to add three prestigious What Car? price point wins to its ever growing trophy cabinet.

The Škoda Yeti, which has been met with critical acclaim since its introduction in September last year, was named 'Best buy crossover under £15,000' in 1.2 TSI S specification. This latest award is added to its Top Gear magazine 'Family Car of the Year' accolade and the Czech Motoring Journalists Club Car of the Year citation, as well as being shortlisted for European Car of the Year title.

Meanwhile the Škoda Octavia Estate 1.4 TSI was named 'Best buy estate under £16,000' for the third year running to add to its title of 'Best Family Car' in the equally prestigious J D Power Customer Satisfaction Survey.

And finally, the Superb continues to be recognised for its exceptional combination of luxury and value as it receives What Car? kudos for 'Best buy family car under £17,000'. Soon to be joined by an estate version, Superb continues to be recognised for its design, luxury and great value.

This trio of What Car? price point wins demonstrates, as does Škoda's increasing market share, yet again that Škoda's blend of great quality cars at outstanding value for money across its most comprehensive and competitive range of cars yet is bringing increasing numbers of customers to the brand.

- ◆ THE YETI (top right): winner of "Best buy crossover under £15,000"

Mazda Looks to Expand Company Car Sales in 2010

- Rising corporate demand for Mazda3 and Mazda CX-7 models
- 'Core' fleet sales predicted to further accelerate
- Special programme secures new fleet opportunities

MAZDA is predicting an increase in company car demand from outright purchase fleets and contract hire and leasing companies in 2010. Following the tough economic conditions of the last 18 months, Peter Allibon, Fleet and Remarketing Director, Mazda UK is looking forward to this year with renewed optimism on the strength of the green shoots of recovery, rising demand for recently launched models and the promise of the showroom arrival of exciting new models during 2010.

The all-new Mazda3, launched in 2009, is now finding favouritism with fleets and an enhancement to the general contract hire proposition is showing early signs of winning user-chooser business at the expense of rivals within this segment. The new Mazda CX-7 is also starting to gain traction in the corporate sector, due to its new diesel engine and premium interior features.

Mazda has pursued a weight reduction strategy with all new models that deliver carbon dioxide emission cuts and fuel economy improvements - both critical as businesses and drivers look to cut tax and fuel bills.

Mr Allibon said: "Company car tax thresholds are due to tighten a further one percentage point per 5g/km of CO2 in April and with each new addition to the range we are seeing engine technology improvements that deliver significant benefits to customers across the board.

"I am optimistic for 2010: the Mazda6 will remain a fleet leader, due to its high levels of specification and unrivalled residual value position. Meanwhile, Mazda3 demand is rising and we are seeing the model being included on an increasing number of company car choice lists. Mazda2 continues to be considered by corporate, public sector fleets and company car opt outs.

Mazda MX-5 remains popular with user-choosers, meanwhile Mazda5 and new Mazda CX-7 are starting to make inroads.

"In the final quarter of 2009 we undertook a prospecting initiative that has driven up our corporate team's new customer appointment bookings for the first few months of 2010. Early indications from the appointments that have been carried out to date are very positive. More businesses are receptive to the prospect of dealing with Mazda on a long term basis than ever before, due to the much improved fleet focused product range that we now have on offer. This is a good indication of the opportunities available to Mazda to increase fleet business," added Allibon.

Meanwhile Mazda will undertake "profitable" Motability and daily rental business in 2010 after stepping back from both sectors in recent months. Allibon explained: "We are undertaking fleet business as a result of demand. We have not 'pushed' vehicles out to core fleet channels and that strategy continues this year."

Mazda UK grew its share of the UK new car market to a record 2.4 percent in 2009, selling a total of 47,934 vehicles - ahead of its forecast. Meanwhile total fleet volumes shrunk as a result of the pull back from Motability and daily rental business. However, Mazda's sales to 'core' end-user fleets and contract hire and leasing companies out-stripped the market in 2009.

"The tough economy and fleets extending replacement cycles have obviously affected sales while our 'core' fleet sales accounted for more than 57 percent of our fleet volumes in 2009 compared with 38 percent in 2008. While those volumes are down almost 15 percent year-on-year the market is down 28 percent, which means that corporate interest in Mazda is strong," added Allibon.

He added: "We are starting to see businesses that extended fleet replacement cycles in the recession return to the market. As a result, Mazda has a double opportunity to secure corporate sales in 2010 from organisations that extended replacement cycles and will not extend again, as well as those that have continued to pursue natural change cycles.

"The planned April 1 shake-up in Vehicle Excise Duty rates and the introduction of a 'special' first year VED rate that benefits low emission models, but hits cars with emissions above 161 g/km, means that the March plate change month will be crucial to determining the potential for sales growth this year.

"We believe the Mazda6 will lead the brand to an increased fleet market share and a rise in corporate sales. Mazda's sustained pricing strategy, high levels of specification and strong residual values will leave us well placed to attract new customers to the brand throughout 2010."

Sporty hybrid coupe promises exciting driving dynamics

THE all-new Honda CR-Z made its world premiere at the North American International Auto Show in Detroit today. With sporty looks and agile handling, the CR-Z is the most exciting hybrid yet, promising driving thrills and cleaner exhaust emissions.

The CR-Z's compact 2+2* coupe body and striking design is coupled with a responsive chassis to give nimble handling and direct steering, and a 6-speed manual transmission enhances driving enjoyment. Its clean, efficient petrol-electric hybrid powertrain not only offers good fuel economy and a low exhaust emissions package, but also adds to the nippy driving characteristics of the car and means the CR-Z is well suited for use in urban environments.

CR-Z in detail

Driver enjoyment was a core part of the design brief and the CR-Z's chassis plays a key role in creating the character of the car. The platform shares some components with the Insight, but the wheelbase, track width and set-up are all bespoke for the new coupe hybrid.

The CR-Z's exterior styling is formed around a "one-motion wedge" concept with a low bonnet line and wide stance that gives the car a sporty, exciting exterior that should appeal to younger drivers. Design features, such as the split level rear glass hatch and aerodynamic, shallow raked roofline are reminiscent of the Honda CRX, but brought bang up-to-date with deep, muscular sculpting.

For the first time, a fuel efficient, low emission parallel hybrid system is combined with a precise and driver focussed 6-speed manual gearbox – made possible only because of the flexibility of Honda's IMA hybrid system.

The manual transmission is complemented by a 1.5-litre 4-cylinder engine, which is new to the UK and a key component in the CR-Z's unique offering. The eager-to-rev nature of the medium capacity engine, is enhanced by the additional 78Nm of torque provided by the 14PS electric motor, which is situated between the engine and transmission.

The 1.5-litre engine, combined with the power and torque of the IMA parallel hybrid system, gives an overall power output of 124PS and 174Nm of torque. The peak torque figure is identical to that of the 1.8-litre Civic but offers CO2 emissions of just 117g/km (35 g/km fewer than the Civic 1.8-litre model).

The electric motor gives the CR-Z an unusually flat torque curve with the maximum arriving at just 1500rpm – unusually low for a naturally-aspirated engine. Teamed with a 6-speed manual transmission, the IMA assisted engine provides great in-gear flexibility, low exhaust emissions and a sporty exhaust note.

To maximise driver choice and enhance the day to day drivability of the car, the CR-Z has been fitted with a 3-Mode Drive System. This unique feature allows the driver to choose between three driving modes, which alter the responses of the throttle, steering, idle stop timing, climate control and the level of assistance provided by the IMA system.

In developing this 3-Mode Drive System, Honda allows the driver to choose whether they wish to maximise enjoyment, economy or strike a balance between the two. The aim of Honda's engineers was to give customers more choice in how the CR-Z would drive, depending on their needs and desires at the time.

The European version of the CR-Z has daytime running lights (DTRLs) with eight LEDs that bring out the lower line of the sweeping headlights. This is the first time DTRLs have been fitted to a production Honda, and combined with the front fog lights provide a tailored look to the European specification CR-Z.

The shallow raked roofline and sharply truncated tail of the CR-Z are features shared with many Hondas past and present. This slippery design allows the car to cut through the air with minimal disturbance, lowering fuel consumption and emissions. The UK specification CR-Z has a 2+2 layout, enabling customers to carry smaller adults for short distances or children on longer journeys. The rear seats can be flattened in a simple one-touch motion to increase luggage capacity when it's needed.

The interior of the production car has been developed from the 2007 Tokyo Motor Show CR-Z Concept, with its 3D displays and driver-focussed cabin. The high-technology instrument binnacle places all of the commonly used controls within quick and easy reach of the driver.

The dashboard of the new coupe has a two-level construction, with a dark upper portion appearing to float above a light grey lower dash section, which continues into the centre of the inner door panels.

Compared to the dimensions of the Insight, the CR-Z is shorter in length by 295mm and its wheelbase is 115mm shorter than the Insight's. This enhances agility and reduces kerb weight by 44kg compared to its 5-door, five-seat, family car sibling. Forged aluminium MacPherson struts have been used in the CR-Z to reduce weight and increase strength over the pressed steel items used in the Insight. The CR-Z suspension features new springs and damper settings and the tolerances are individual to the compact coupe.

The European version of the CR-Z goes on sale in the UK in summer 2010, and will debut at the Geneva Auto Show 2010 in March.

HONITON HORNETS HOCKEY

Honiton Hornets 1
Teignmouth 2
HONITON entertained Teignmouth on a somewhat soggy pitch after the week's snow had thawed and the heavy rainfall of the previous night.

The visitors opened the scoring from a penalty stroke but the hosts rallied into the attack, and before the half-time whistle was blown Jean Herniman passed the ball at a penalty corner to Amy Phillips, strategically placed to the centre-back of the Teignmouth circle, who moved it to Sophie George, likewise well positioned, and she was able to hit the back board in resounding fashion.

With the score line equal play resumed once more in earnest with both sides trying to outdo the other - the home side thought they had taken the lead but, Dawn Mayo's goal was disallowed.

During the second-half it was the visitors who eventually snatched the win despite much of the play being concentrated in the Teignmouth half of the pitch but unfortunately the Hornets could not force the ball past the visitors' goalkeeper.

Players of the Match: Sue Stone and Julie Reed.
Practices continue with ECVH at Culmpton Sports Centre on Tuesday evenings. Training takes place between 8pm and 9.30pm, with transport being arranged from Dowell Street Car Park at 7.30pm. If you would like to come along please turn up at the meeting point. We extend a warm welcome to all players regardless of current skills.

Golf round-up

RALPH IS TOP CIRCUS ACT

WINDWHISTLE CLUB

with Pete Hamilton-Walsh

SATURDAY, January 16th saw the return of golf to the Windwhistle Course after a delay due to heavy snow over the recent weeks. The usual 'Saturday Circus' roll-up took place with an impressive turn out considering the nearly nil-visibility conditions due to heavy fog at the course. Despite this, nothing could deter the hardy members from their ultimate goal - 18 holes of good golf.

The 'Saturday Circus' is a roll-up where anybody can turn up without booking a tee-time and play a game of golf, usually with a different group each week. It is normally started at 11.30am and is a great way for members and visitors alike to meet and play with people of all golfing abilities and is open to men, women and juniors and enjoyed by all.

Anybody wishing to join in the circus will be most welcome and warmly received.

The day's play was a tough game and went right down to the last couple of holes to decide the winner. It was a closely contested round of golf with some impressive scores coming in despite players playing off three-quarters of their club handicap.

The results were: Ralph Daley was the winner on the front nine with 23 points (three birdies). Graham Pike was second on the back nine with 21 points (three birdies). Tony Roy was second overall with 41 points and also second on the front nine with 21 points (five birdies).

But the overall winner was Pete Hamilton-Walsh with 43 points also claiming the back nine with 24 points (three birdies).

Steve Rickard was nearest the pin on the par 3 12th (twice). Steve also had a very impressive three birdies in succession. But the day's sorrows go to Steve Punter and Terry Rutherford who, despite putting in a valiant effort with three birdies and four birdies respectively, walked away without a win.

Saturday Circus Winter League table.

Top five: 1st Ralph Daley 12pts, 2nd Steve Punter (10), 3rd Tony Roy (7), 4th Graham Pike (6), 5th Tim Williams (6).

This year's club captain Andy King has announced that the 'All Captains Drive In' which was postponed on January 9th due to adverse weather conditions will now take place on Saturday, February 27th. He extends a warm welcome to all those wishing to take part on this long awaited and very popular annual event. FOOTBALL RESULTS, FIXTURES AND TABLES

Devon & Exeter League

FENITON managed just their second win of the season, and the first for manager Mark Kingdom, as they saw off the University 3-2, but they almost threw the match away.

Leading 3-0 Feniton looked well set, but the college then scored twice to exact a nervous ending. Ben Allen, John Phillips and a thunderous free kick from Luke Gallin had Feniton in dreamland. However an own goal and then Ben Nash scored for the University who now drop below Feniton in the table although they do have four games in hand.

Seaton Town went three points clear of the Division 1 pack after beating the University 5-2 (see match report below).

Beer Albion are up to second place after their 3-0 win against Sidbury Utd, but the visitors could feel a little hard done by. Sidbury hit the woodwork twice and played well, but the fishermen scored at crucial times. Ian Beavis, Matt Hancock and John Cooper who was outstanding were the Beer scorers.

The match between Broadclyst and Heavitree Social Utd was abandoned after 66 minutes at 0-0 because of bad injuries to several players. The ambulance arrived too late to take three players away, and the referee decided to half proceedings as the light was fading.

Tipton St John were two down with twenty minutes remaining against bottom of the table Dawlish Town but then snatched a 3-2 victory. Jody Freeman hit two goals to equalise and Adrian Small headed a dramatic winner.

MATCH REPORT

Seaton Town 5 Exeter University 2

IT took Seaton a good 25 minutes to shake of the 'ring rust' of a long period of inactivity against a capable University side.

The students got stuck into the greens and for 20 minutes were the better side, whilst town failed to string two passes together. However it was skipper Ben Ede who got the greens playing - once they got into their passing game they found the net twice through Bradley Groves, and a fantastic header from Cameron Vere.

And headed in at half-time break in complete control with the Uni having to change their game plan or potentially risk suffering a hammering.

However the visitors did half the deficit immediately after the restart when a through ball wide out on the right hand side was not closed down quickly enough and the winger crossed for his diminutive team mate to nip in between three defenders to head home.

Josh Stunnell, the greens manager, was appalled by the lack of defensive commitment and sent all of his subs to warm up. The move clearly got the required reaction from the players as, sensing changes would be made, they raised their game with midfielder Jack Lamb-Wilson showing the passion and commitment you would expect to see from the league leaders.

With 60 minutes played a crossed ball was powerfully headed home by Devon Under-18 striker Josh French. This broke the visitors hearts and Seaton continued to dominate with the fourth goal coming from Man-of-the-Match Lamb-Wilson who smashed home from 25-yards out, a goal of the season contender only to be out done by skipper Ede who rifled home from an impossible angle wide right, with the ball ending up in the top left hand corner of the goal.

The Uni did manage to pull another consolation goal back late-on.

Seaton played some really good stuff in patches, and will hope to be able to get back to playing week-in-week out in order to get back into their stride.

Seaton Town line-up: D.Perham, Wyatt, M.Perham, Fellingham, Durrant, Ede, Lamb-Wilson, French, Groves, Vere, Used Subs: , Byrne (55), Alphonse (65), Cross (75) Unused Subs: Hayes & Sellick.

Man-of-the-Match: Jack Lamb-Wilson

EAST DEVON SHORT MAT BOWLS

with Chris Young

A NUMBER of "post-freeze" results have been reported so let us hope this interruption is over.

Just one match was played in the Evening League where Colyton drew at Seaton Cliff in a top of the table clash.

In the afternoon League Beer consolidated their position as leaders winning 5-3 away. In the same division Upttery won by the same margin and gained a couple of places as a result. Awliscombe A travelled to Sidbury and gained a point there which moved them to second place. In the second division four home wins, one by 7-1 allowed Awliscombe B to open up a clear lead of one point, and two wins, 8-0 and 6-2, saw Colyton move to second place. Woodbury, 6-2 winners now take over fourth place.

In the knock-out Sidbury reached the semi-final despite Upttery's effort in their home leg winning five games and drawing two. Sidbury will now meet Awliscombe A.

AXMINSTER BOWLS NEWS

with David Harris

DESPITE the shocking weather conditions of the last month we have only lost four Club representative games and a handful of domestic games owing to travelling difficulties - perhaps an incentive for more sport-minded people to take up bowls to escape our very trying climate?

The highlight of the month was the Ladies' superb win in their Foxlands match against Dawlish to remain unbeaten in this season's competition - they won by seven shots overall with a win and a draw both at home and away. Top rink was Ann Wright, Chris

League Tables To Saturday, January 16th

All captains please note Ring and Ride have withdrawn from the League.

RUGBY ROUND-UP

SATURDAY last was very similar in appearance to one or two front row forwards of my acquaintance, short, dark and dirty writes Keith Jenkin.

Having rashly predicted to my superiors that a full league programme of games would be undertaken by the local clubs, I subsequently discovered that all the CHARD club's games had been called off due to flood and the residue of ice.

Seemingly too, the Exeter City Council had withdrawn permission for play to take place on any of its pitches, and that put paid to HONITON'S first team game against WESSEX. BRIDPORT did manage to get a game in however and I took myself off to view their game against visitors, PUDDLETOWN where the home side finally ran out very comfortable winners by 56-0.

SIDMOUTH 13pts, PAIGNTON 14pts

ANOTHER agonising finale for Sidmouth as, for the umpteenth time this season, they came away with nothing, having led well into the final quarter of the game.

This close encounter did not start all that promisingly for them, for although they began brightly, they fell foul of authority in the first quarter and conceded a rash of penalties for infringing at the breakdown. The Paignton kicker converted three of the awards to give his side a handy 9-0 lead at the twenty minute mark.

The home pack was establishing a edge in the set pieces however and, as their penalty count reduced, they began to exert pressure. They reduced the deficit on the half hour with a well taken try. From a set scrum on the Paignton twenty two, number eight Hannay broke and fed his scrum worker Trim. He in turn found Scott Davies with a telling pass and he completed the move by scoring out wide. Channing added the extras and Sidmouth were back in contention.

They went one better a few minutes later, taking the lead with a Channing penalty goal but, although they came close, they could not score again before the change round.

Sidmouth spent much of the second period on the front foot but could not turn possession and pressure into points in the face of a resolute defence. Place kicker Channing's normal accuracy had deserted him and he could only convert one of several penalty opportunities, hitting the post with another effort.

Sidmouth's failure to keep the scoreboard ticking allowed their opponents to stay in contention. They made a front row substitution with 15 minutes left and, thereafter the pattern of the game changed. The home set scrum began to creak a little and Paignton rallied at the last, thanks in no small part to the penalties the home side conceded in desperate defence.

Two Sidmouth players saw yellow at this time and finally the Sidmouth defence ran out of bodies, allowing the Paignton left winger to scuttle over in the corner following a quickly taken tap.

The unsuccessful conversion attempt proved to be the final kick of the game and Paignton went home with the win that had, for some time, looked unlikely.

Sidmouth, having had so many sides come from behind to beat them, will obviously be looking at their fitness levels. It is likely too that, as they often do not turn possession and pressure into points during a game, they are unable to build a lead and allow opponents to remain in the contest long after the result should have been made safe.

TORQUAY 3rd 27pt HONITON 2nd 12pts

THE Honiton first side's game at Wessex was postponed owing to the fact that the Exeter City Council had decided that its pitches were, en masse, unfit for play.

When the Honiton second side arrived in Torbay and saw water being taken from the pitch by the bucketful, they would certainly have understood that particular mind set. The game went ahead however and, although conditions were soggy in the extreme, at least some rugby starved players got a run out.

THERE was a shock in the Reg

Egdon Cup semi-final when Farway

United Reserves lost their 11 game unbeaten record in a 4-1 defeat against Thorncombe Reserves at a foggy Horseshoe Lane.

In the corresponding League fixture back in September the Devonians purred to a thumping 6-0 win so Karl Smith's opener for the Thorns will have come as something of a surprise. The hosts weren't finished there and a double strike from

James Johnson put them in the driving seat. Chris Legg did reduce the arrears with his 14th of the season

but there was no way back and veteran

Paul Male rounded off the scoring in the second-half.

AXE VALLEY RUNNERS

with Dave Mutter

CONGRATULATIONS to Marianne Sweetland who was delighted with her performance at the recent First Chance 10k. She beat her PB by a full nine minutes, finishing 394th out of 464 in 1:02:17.

Sunday the 17th January saw the inaugural first run of the East Devon Way Relay Race staged by Axe Valley Runners starting from the Estuary in Exmouth and finishing some 42 miles later at the Cobb in Lyme Regis. The route was divided up into 12 Legs of varying distances and difficulty and tackled by 14 teams from various Clubs (Exmouth Harriers, Maiden Newton, Plymouth Tri, Sidmouth, South West Road Runners, Exeter Tri, Honiton, Axe Valley Runners and last but not least a group by the name of Avenhays Arrows) who set about the task in style given the absolutely fabulous weather they were blessed with for the occasion.

The only substantial problem which had to be addressed was the flooding of the Axe Valley on second part of Leg 9 between Cowhayne Lane and Musbury where the runners had water up to their waists and one by the name of Phil Bayliss half way up his chest! Apart from this 'minor' difficulty the running conditions were perfect and enabled the men's team from Exmouth Harriers comprising Mike Musgrove, Dave Stone, Jamie Pearson and Joel Morter to take first place in a stunning time of 4hrs 56mins which will take some beating. A truly first class effort.

Two AVR teams took part. 'Lost and Found' were Chris Keeffe, Ian Apps, James Jackson and John Blackledge. 'Axe Valley Oldies', with a combined age of 231, were Dominic Schneider, Garry Perratt, Phil Bayliss and Richard Hale. Both teams paced themselves well and while not capable of challenging the winning team, let their experience show, moving up from about 4th and 6th after the first leg to finish 2nd in 5hrs 16 mins and 3rd in 5hrs 23 mins. Navigational mishaps were relatively minor, weather was good, scenery was great, a fantastic time was had by all and the post-race pint and chips were well-deserved.

Some teams suffered a few minor navigational mishaps but all were in constant good heart given the terrific scenery of the route which was wrapped up in such wonderful weather. The post race pints and fish and chips were well deserved. All the runners were enthusiastic about the run and greatly enjoyed the day. They eagerly look forward to next year's run. The East Devon Way on a day such as this is something the people of East Devon should be proud of.

Would you believe that the Grizzly is only six weeks away from next Sunday (March 7th) and I bet some of you are itching to try out the new course?

AS gold stays high, there are many companies advertising on TV asking for you to post your gold. Some have even hired celebrities to try and convince the public to trust sending gold by post. Most of these companies will not give a price per gramme over the phone, and you don't know what you're getting until the cheque eventually arrives. In fact it's almost impossible to actually get to talk to anyone, they just have an automated phone system asking for your name and address. Be very careful, many pay very low rates.
